in the mid 1990s tim berners lee had the idea of developing the world wide into a semantic a web of information that could be interpreted by machines in order to allow the automatic exploitation of data which until then had to be done by humans manually one of the first people to research topics related to the semantic was professor rudi studer from the beginning rudi drove projects like ontobroker and on to knowledge which later resulted in w3c standards such as rdf and owl by the late 1990s rudi had established a research group at the university of karlsruhe which later became the nucleus and breeding ground for semantic research and many of today's well known research groups were either founded by his disciples or benefited from close cooperation with this think tank in this book published in celebration of rudi's 60th birthday many of his colleagues look back on the main research results achieved during the last 20 years under the editorship of dieter fensel once one of rudi's early phd students an impressive list of contributors and contributions has been collected covering areas like knowledge management ontology engineering service management and semantic search overall this book provides an excellent overview of the state of the art in semantic research by combining historical roots with the latest results which may finally make the dream of a of knowledge software and services come true this book critically examines some of the major trends in the development of higher education it demonstrates how in the context of liberalisation globalisation and marketisation the crisis in higher education has assumed different dimensions in all advanced and emerging societies the author shows how the state tends to slowly withdraw from the responsibility of higher education including in the arena of policy making or simply adopts a policy of laissez faire of non involvement which helps in the rapid unbridled growth of private sector in higher education the notion of higher education as a public good is under serious contestation in current times the book argues for the need to resurrect the compelling nature of higher education along with its several implications for public policy and planning while providing a broad portrayal of global developments comparative perspectives and key lessons the volume will be of interest to scholars and researchers of education political science public policy and administration governance development studies economics and those working in the higher education sectors think tanks policymakers as well as ngos this book provides a multidisciplinary overview of the design and implementation of systems for remote patient monitoring and healthcare readers are guided step by step through the components of such a system and shown how they could be integrated in a coherent framework for deployment in practice the authors explain planning from subsystem design to complete integration and deployment given particular application constraints readers will benefit from descriptions of the clinical requirements underpinning the entire application scenario physiological parameter sensing techniques information processing approaches and overall application dependent system integration each chapter ends with a discussion of practical design challenges and two case studies are included to provide practical examples and design methods for two remote healthcare systems with different needs the trade and development report 2009 subtitled responding to the global crisis climate change mitigation and development addresses the main issues of global economic outlook and short term policy response to the financial and economic crisis international monetary reform to complement stricter financial regulation and climate change mitigation as a process of structural change the report analyzes global economic prospects within the framework of the current economic and financial crisis it also heeds the short term fiscal financial and monetary policies that were adopted in response to the impacts of the 2008 2009 crisis it also looks at the question of how increased efforts aimed at climate change mitigation can be combined with forward looking development strategies and rapid growth in developing countries
